

PRESIDENT TALKS TO NATIONAL PRESS CLUB

TELLS MEMBERS HOW HE FEELS AS NATION'S CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Wilson Did Not Intend to Have His Informal Remarks Made Public but Later at Request of the Club He Consents to Have Speech Given Out—Is Intimate Picture of Wilson.

Washington, March 20.—Woodrow Wilson unbosomed himself to the members of the National Press club of Washington today, telling them in a frank, conversational way how he felt as president of the United States. It was an intimate picture of Woodrow Wilson, the man, drawn by himself, on the occasion of the "house warming" at the Press club's new quarters. The president did not intend to have his remarks repeated, but later at the request of the club, the unusual speech was made public. He said in part:

"I was just thinking of my sense of confusion of identity, some times when I read articles about myself. I have never read an article about myself in which I recognized myself and I have come to have the impression that I must be some kind of a fraud, because I think a great many of these articles are written in absolute good faith.

"I have mixed first and last with all sorts and conditions of men—there are mighty few kinds of men that have to be described to me and there are mighty few kinds of experiences that have to be described to me—and when I think of the number of men who are looking to me as the representative of a party, with the hope for all varieties of salvation from the things they are struggling in the midst of, it makes me tremble.

Trying to Avoid Blunders.
"It makes me tremble not only with a sense of my own inadequacy and weakness, but as if I were shaken by the very things that are shaking them and if I seem circumspect it is because I am so diligently trying not to make any colossal blunders.

"I was amused the other day at a remark that Senator Newlands made. I had read him the trust message that I was to deliver to congress some ten days before I delivered it and I never stop 'doctoring' things of that kind until the day I have to deliver them. When he heard it read to congress he said: 'I think it is better than it was when you read it to me.' I said, 'Senator, there is one thing which I do not think you understand. I do not only use all the brains I have, but all I can borrow and I have borrowed a lot since I read it to you first.'

"That, I dare say, is what gives the impression of circumspectness. I am listening; I am diligently trying to collect all the brains that are borrowable in order that I may not make more blunders than it is inevitable that a man should make who has great limitations of knowledge and capacity.

Feels Outside of Presidency.
"I never think of myself as the president of the United States because I have never had any sense of being identified with that office. I feel like a person appointed for a certain length of time to administer that office and I feel just as much outside of it this moment as I did before I was elected to it. The machine is so much greater than himself, the office is so much greater than he can ever be and the most he can do is to look grave enough and self-possessed enough to seem to fill it.

"For example, take matters of this sort:
"I will not say whether it is wise or unwise; simple or grave, but certain precedents have been established that in certain companies the president must leave the room first and the people must give way to him. They must not sit down if he is standing up. It is a very uncomfortable thing to have to think of all the other people every time I get up or sit down and all that sort of thing.

Likes Good Detective Story.
"So that when I get guests in my own house and the public is shut out, adjourn being president and take leave to be a gentleman. If they draw back and insist upon my doing something first I firmly decline. There are blessed intervals when I forget by one means or another that I am president of the United States. One means by which I forget is to get a rattling good detective story, get after some imaginary offender and chase him all over—preferably any continent but this. Because the various parts of this continent are becoming painfully suggestive to me. The post-offices and many other things which stir reminiscence have 'sickled' them over with a pale cast of thought.

Given Too Much Attention.
"Now if I were free I would come not infrequently up to these rooms. You know I never was in Washington but a very few times and but a very few hours until I came last year and I never expect to see the inside of the public buildings in Washington until I am out of office. The curator and the assistant curators and every other blooming official turns up and they show me so much attention that I don't see the building. Some day after I am

NEW YORK SUFFRAGIST LEADER ADDRESSES OPEN AIR MEETING

Inez Milholland Declares Englishman is a Joke Because They Don't Grant Women Right of Suffrage.

St. Louis, March 20.—Mrs. Eugene Van Boissevain (Inez Milholland) suffragist leader of New York, addressed an open air meeting in front of the court house here this afternoon. She began by inviting questions from the men in the crowd.

"The first man did not ask a question, but said, 'woman's place is the kitchen.'
"There are nine million women who can't stay in the kitchen because they have to go out and work," replied Mrs. Van Boissevain. "They are not working because they find it easy. Conditions are bad for them. They are under political disability and are harassed by economic conditions and ancient prejudices. If working men find it necessary to have laws to protect them, how much more the working women."
"Why doesn't England give women the ballot?" came a question from the crowd.

"The Englishman is a joke," she replied. "Thank heaven, we are not dealing with him but with American men."

CHICAGO, March 20.—The "tramp teacher" traveling from farm to farm to teach the children will be an old educational figure revived to meet modern times in Cook county if a school consolidation program proposed today goes through.

It is proposed to consolidate three school districts by moving three school houses together and lay great stress on agricultural studies.
"The school will be run entirely as an agricultural school said E. J. Tobin, county superintendent of schools. One agricultural teacher will be a "tramp teacher" in the summer time and go from farm to farm helping the children in their agricultural studies."

EMPEROR SAID TO HAVE STRONG ANTI-CATHOLIC VIEWS

Alleged Letter From Emperor William to Landgrave of Hesse is Attracting Attention.

Berlin, March 20.—An alleged letter from Emperor William in which he is said to express strong anti-Catholic views is attracting much attention in the press.
The letter is understood to have been written by his majesty to the Landgrave of Hesse, who was a princess of Prussia and was converted to the Catholic faith October 9th, 1891.

The Volksfreund of Aix-La-Chapelle, a Catholic newspaper declares the letter contains the phrase:
"I hate the religion which you have accepted."

The letter is said to have been found among the papers of the late Cardinal Kopp.

Mr. Park had read the first line or two of his impeachment resolution when Representative Mann interrupted with a point of no quorum and the house adjourned with the Georgia member declaring that he would get the matter before the house tomorrow.

The Park resolution is said to be based on charges of official misconduct recently filed with the house judiciary committee by Wade H. Cooper, a Washington banker.

Met at noon.
Debate was resumed on the rivers and harbors appropriation bill.
Mines committee acted favorably on Representative Taylor's bill for new experiment stations. Arrangements were made to hear John Mitchell testify Monday on the Michigan copper strike situation.

Adjourned at 5:10 p. m., to noon Saturday.

Washington, March 20.—"There is no evidence here of a $50,000 fund," said Senator Overman, chairman of the senate lobby committee today at the conclusion of the committee's investigation of reports that such a sum was being used in Washington by representatives of prison labor contractors to defeat the pending Hughes bill to restrict the marketing of convict made goods.

The chairman's remark which apparently closed this latest phase of the committee's inquiries, was addressed to Edward Boyle, a Chicago attorney and formerly treasurer of the national conference of charities and corrections who has opposed so-called anti-convict labor legislation for years as legal representative of a group of manufacturers having prison labor contracts.
Mr. Boyle told the committee he had been done an injustice by the intimations as to lobbying and asked that a full investigation be made. Senator Overman said he was willing to call any witnesses Boyle might suggest but at that the matter seemed closed.

To Circulate Petition Today.

Members of the house who are actively interested in trade unions made plans today for a contest before the Democratic house caucus to force the judiciary committee to include in the administration anti-trust bills a provision exempting labor unions from the operations of anti-trust laws. A petition for a caucus will be circulated tomorrow.

Debate on Bill Concluded.

Debate on the rivers and harbors appropriation bill was concluded in the house today, bringing to an end a deluge of political speeches and discussions of the Mexican situation and the Panama tolls controversy made in the time allowed for general discussion of the appropriation measure. Detailed consideration of the bill was begun and several proposed amendments were voted down. It is probable that the bill will not be disposed of until the middle of next week.

Consideration Is Delayed.

Consideration of the bill to repeal the toll exemption provision of the Panama canal act will not be undertaken by the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals until late next week despite efforts of Democratic senators who favor the repeal to hurry action. This decision was reached late today by Senator O'Gorman, chairman of the committee, after an informal conference with some members of the committee and Representative Knowland of California, one of the most aggressive of repeal opponents in the senate. Early in the day Senator O'Gorman had stated that he would call a meeting of the committee Monday or Tuesday of next week to discuss the repeal bill introduced by Senator Owen.

Later, however, the senator found that Senator Crawford, a member of the canals committee could not return from South Dakota until late in the week and he withheld the call.

Will Hear McDermott and Emery.

Before the house judiciary committee acts upon the report of its sub-committee on the recent lobby inquiry a hearing will be granted Representative McDermott of Illinois and James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers. The committee after discussing the report all day, adjourned tonight until Tuesday, when both of the men named will be given an opportunity to make statements.

Would Confiscate Patents.

A bill proposing that all patents and copyrights controlled by a so-called trust shall be forfeited by the government was introduced today by Representative Campbell of Kansas.

GEN. VILLA INVADES FEDERAL STRONGHOLD

REBELS, TWELVE THOUSAND STRONG MARCH ON TORREON

Villa Declares City Will Be His Within a Week—Governor Coquitt of Texas Orders That Ranks of Rangers Be Recruited With Men Who Can Shoot.

Constitutionalist Headquarters, Yermo, Durango, Mexico, March 20.—General Villa and his army of twelve thousand rebels today invaded the federal stronghold of Torreon.

The khaki-clad columns occupied the environs of the city without opposition and today was spent in wheeling or dragging the field pieces into position to shell the federal trenches which have been dug at every point which the federal commander Refugio Velasco, expects attack.

His army is estimated to number nine thousand men. South and southwest of the city his position is regarded as almost impregnable by reason of the mountains through which only three passes ran and these have been rendered almost impassable by fortifications and barbed wire entanglements. In other directions the city is reached through the desert and high hills.

Villa's recent progress has been slow because it was necessary to repair the railroad tracks and bridges. This morning, however, the road was open from Yermo, where the troops have been mobilizing to Magami and Bermejillo which are only a few miles north of Torreon and are virtually suburbs of that city.

At these two cities the troops were trained and formed in columns in the intense heat.

Suffer From Heat and Alkali.

There was little loss of time in plunging into the desert some mounted and others on foot. Great clouds of fine desert dust marked their progress over hummocks of cast-iron sand and through dry water courses. Great tank wagons laden with the water supply, which has been Villa's greatest problem, rumbled in the train, the wheels at times almost hunched in the sand.

The lips of the few foreigners in the army were cracked and swollen from the heat and alkali dust but the Mexicans, trained to such conditions, covered their mouths with folds of their blankets and fared best.

All eyes were bloodshot.
In this way amid all the suffering which the harshest waste of arid land in Mexico can furnish the outskirts of Torreon were reached. There was no opposition and General Villa stated that there has been none since he began to repair the railroad south of Jimenez. The federales contented themselves with sniping at all possible obstruction except bullets in his way. There were occasional exchanges of shots between outposts but nothing that assumed even the dignity of a skirmish.

Villa, A Fury of Energy.
General Villa was everywhere, for now that the eve of the battle is at hand, he is a fury of energy, now seizing the halter of a refractory mule, now criticizing the lashings of a pack saddle, or snapping from point to point in his private car attached to a light engine and wherever he alighted his horse, saddled and bridled, was instantly awaiting.

"Torreon will be mine in a week," he exclaims jubilantly. "Never has a revolutionary army in Mexico had better men and never have they been so thoroughly equipped. Every preparation has been made and we are ready to fail."

General Felipe Angeles, chief of the artillery corps, was named second in command to take full charge in the event of the death or incapacitation of Villa. Angeles is a member of General Carranza's cabinet and was detached at Villa's urgent solicitation to participate in this battle. He is a veteran expert of the big gun artillery of the service and many an artillery officer in the enemy ranks at Torreon received his schooling from him. His loyalty to Madero's memory has endeared him to the rank and file of the troops.

Supply of "Villa's Pills" Ready.

General Aguirre Benavides was placed in command of the disposition of troops although Angeles himself selected the position for his guns. They were trained on the hill tops while soldiers busied themselves throwing up banks of sand around them and caves were dug to store the ammunition. In the latter there is a supply of home-made shrapnel, which the soldiers refer to as Villa's pills.

Practically all of the rolling stock of the railroad is now congested on the line between Chihuahua, Jimenez, Escalon (where there is a water supply) and the front. Villa has food for a month, 2,000 rounds of cartridges to the man and his railroad service, unless cut, can maintain the water supply indefinitely.

It is believed here that the federales are now completely cut off from the outside world, even by wire, although the wireless stations may permit them to communicate with the national capital 700 miles to the south. Villa professes to believe he will capture the entire army.

Guns Shipped Out of Torreon.

Scouts for some time have reported that guns and ammunition were being shipped out of Torreon, in the direction of Saltillo and Monterrey. General Villa although ac-

SHOOTING CAUSES SECRET PAGE OF FRENCH HISTORY TO BE RE-OPENED

Inquiry Being Made Into Trial of Rochette Charged With Swindling Who Ultimately Escaped Punishment.

Paris, March 20.—Two former premiers of France, Joseph Caillaux and Ernest Monis, and the chief public prosecutor of the republic Victor Fabre, were questioned today by a parliamentary committee concerning their acts and their motives in hindering the trial of the banker, Henri Rochette, who, it is averred, duped investors out of $3,000,000 and ultimately escaped punishment.

The death of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro at the hands of Mme. Caillaux caused this secret page in the judicial history of the country to be re-opened. Many of its phases, till obscure are likely to be unrolled by this inquiry with its back ground of intense public feeling.

Deep personal and political rivalries are interwoven with the attempts to raise the screen hiding the strange transactions.

While M. Caillaux restless and with an air of suppressed passion, replied to the questions put to him by the members of the committee the bells for M. Calmette's funeral were tolling.

Almost all the notable literary and dramatic personages in Paris either were in the little church of Saint Francis De Sales for the funeral service or followed the hearse to the cemetery.

Former President Loubet and former Premiers Briand and Barthou were among the nine thousand persons who went to the place of interment. The entire route through which the cortege passed was thronged with the spectators standing bareheaded in the intermittent rain.

PUBLICATION OF REPORTED MARRIAGE UNCONFIRMED

CHICAGO, Mar. 20.—Publication of reports that Miss Charlotte Breitling had married Mr. Frederick Kleist, a gardener of Marquette, Mich., today, resulted in a search being begun for Kleist who left Michigan some time ago. He had been employed as gardener at the summer home of Edward J. Breitling, banker of Chicago and New York and the similarity of names resulted in a rumor that Kleist had married the daughter of his employer.

Breitling here today denied the report. Mrs. and Miss Juliet Breitling in New York declared that some person had assumed their family name and denied that any member of their family had wedded the gardener.

Kleist's parents denied their son had married the daughter of his former employer. Their son they said, is now employed as a miner in Mogollon, N. M.

CHICAGO, March 20.—A verdict in the trial of Miss Ellen Gates Starr a settlement worker, charged with interfering with the police in the waitresses' strike here was reached tonight and will be read in court tomorrow.

BLOODSHED IN ULSTER APPEARS IMMINENT

RE-DISTRIBUTION OF GOVERNMENT FORCES IS BEGUN IN IRELAND

Dramatic Entry of Sir Edward Carson Into Belfast, the Unexpected Shifting of Troops Throughout Ulster and the Arrival of Reinforcements From the South Are Day's Developments in Home Rule Strife.

London, March 20.—"War in Ulster" is the startling headline which the sensational London newspapers are displaying in the blackest type. The government began to dispose of its regular troops in Ireland today so that they may be in a position to deal with any situation that arises. The cooler men among the loyalists and the Ulster unionists, however, believe that nothing resembling war is yet in sight.

The army council some time ago considered the possibilities of home rule strife and instructed Lieut. Gen. Sir Arthur Henry Fitzroy Paget, who commands the Irish garrison, to take all necessary precautions to maintain order and safeguard property. A general re-distribution of the forces in Ireland therefore was begun today.

Two regiments were sent from the south to reinforce the Ulster garrisons while the troops in Ulster were moved to new stations in conformity with the custom that in the event of hostilities or rioting soldiers should not be compelled to encounter people with whom they had formed friendships. In pursuance with the same rule some Irish recruits were sent from the Armagh recruiting station to England. The possibilities of a collision between the British soldiers and the Ulster volunteers resulting from the super-heated political feeling are recognized, but the leaders on both sides are trying to exert a pacific influence. John Redmond, the nationalist leader in parliament, today telegraphed the nationalists in Belfast an urgent appeal to abandon a parade arranged for Sunday in Londonderry which it was thought would likely result in rioting. Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader and the members of the Ulster council, urged calmness on the part of the volunteers.

Four cabinet ministers spoke of the Ulster situation at different meetings tonight.

Two Trains Leave Dublin.

Dublin, March 20.—Two special trains left Dublin this afternoon, carrying troops to the north and several other trains are preparing to depart. The army service corps tonight was loading forty tons of provisions here for the northern garrisons.

The naval training ships, Royal Arthur and Gibraltar, and the torpedo boat destroyers Pathfinder and Attentive, steamed into Kingston harbor, seven miles southeast of Dublin today.

Union Leader in Ulster.

Belfast, March 20.—The dramatic entry into Belfast of Sir Edward Carson and the unexpected and complete shifting of troops throughout Ulster and the arrival of reinforcements from the south furnished excitement and surprises today.

The arrival of the unionist leader in Ulster fresh from his defiance of the government in the House of Commons, his reception by General George Richardson, retired, commander of the Ulster volunteers and a conference with the Ulster leaders were watched with tense interest. The Dorsetshire regiment which had been stationed in Belfast for the past year was transferred to the Holy Wood barracks four miles distant. The men marched with full equipment, taking with them twelve cars loaded with rifle ammunition and also machine guns. While the Dorsetshire were passing Craigavon county down, the residence of Captain James Smith, one of the volunteer leaders and with whom Sir Edward Carson is staying, the guards of the Ulster volunteer force turned out and stood at salute.

Crowds were moving all along the Ulster border. Messages received from Enniskillen, Armagh and Omagh, said that detachments from various regiments from Dublin, Carragh and Mullingar were drafted in. Their expected arrival was made the occasion for enthusiastic demonstrations by the loyalists.

Motor cars with dispatch riders sent from Belfast Thursday to volunteer headquarters in all parts of Ulster returned today. It is believed they carried orders arranging for a quick mobilization of the Orange forces if this should become necessary.

Craigavon, where Sir Edward Carson is staying, is guarded by volunteers, each man armed with a rifle and bayonet and carrying ball cartridges. The residences of the other Orange leaders have similar guards about them.

Army Officers Resign.

STRAGGLERS OF KELLY'S ARMY HOLDING THREE FREIGHT CARS

Jobless to Number of 150 Board Freight Train for North But Are Hauled to Siding and Cut Loose.

Redding, Cal., March 20.—One hundred stragglers from General Kelley's army of the unemployed are holding three freight cars on a siding south of here tonight as a result of a skirmish today with the Southern Pacific railroad. The jobless to the number of 150 attempted to beat their way south last night but were put off a freight train by the railroad police. Early today the men took possession of another freight.

The company refused to move the train. Finally a switch engine was coupled to the cars. They were hauled to a siding a mile south and the three cars in which the men were riding were cut loose. Fifty of the men scrambled on the moving train before it gathered headway but the remainder were left behind. No food was supplied the men today and they went without a meal.

Will Provide Camp Site.

NORTHWESTERN WINS CLOSE THREE SIDED RACE FOR TANK EVENTS

CHICAGO, March 20.—Northwestern university was the winner with 29 points in a close three sided race for the tank events of the annual big nine two days' conference meet which began at Northwestern tonight. The University of Illinois was second with 28 points and the University of Chicago third with 22. Northwestern came from behind in the relay race, the last event of the meet, winning just enough points to overcome Illinois' lead. The relay race went to Northwestern through the efforts of Captain Wood, the last man of the Northwestern team. He overcame Illinois' lead, winning the race and the meet in the last few seconds of the evening.

A new conference record was set in the plunge for distance in a sixty-foot tank, McDonald's time of 23 2-5, cutting 1 4-5 seconds from the record held by Lytcher of Illinois.

ECONOMIC CONDITIONS IN CITIES ARE DESTROYING FAMILY LIFE

PRINCETON, N. J., March 20.—Economic conditions in cities are destroying family life according to Professor Ross of the University of Wisconsin who delivered a lecture here today.

"Children in the city are more of an economic burden than a help," he said. "Men are liable to dismissal at a day's notice and won't assume the burden of marriages. Industrialism also tends to break up the family because it leaves women to work for their own money. The average age of marriage used to be 18; now it is 24 1-2, with a resultant diminution in the size of families. Women are constantly rising higher in their profession and are having larger rewards held out to them."

Gives Address on "Home."
Pittsburgh, Pa., March 20.—"Home" was the subject of a stirring address by Rev. Dr. George R. Stuart of Knoxville, Tenn., at tonight's session of the Mid-winter Bible conference. Dr. Stuart pleaded for larger families and deplored the childless homes of America. "This is an age of motherless homes because of childless wives," declared Dr. Stuart.

GOV. MAJOR REFUSES TO HONOR REQUISITIONS FOR TWO WOMEN

ST. LOUIS, March 20.—Governor Major today refused to honor requisitions for the extradition of two women made by the governors of different states. One was Mrs. Maggie Jackson of Marshall, Kansas, whose extradition on a charge of arson, Governor Hodges of that state had asked and the other woman was Mrs. Helen Rowray of Kansas City whose extradition had been asked by Governor Clark of Iowa on the allegation that she had retained a ruby and diamond belonging to Mrs. Anna Schleicher of Davenport. In each case Governor Major decided the evidence sent with the requisition papers was insufficient.

cepting the reports with reserve gave two interpretations to this, one, that the federals were trying to equip a force to attack his rear and the other that in the knowledge of certain defeat, Velasco was saving as much of his artillery as possible.

General Carranza and Provisional President Huerta some time ago agreed to the establishment of a neutral zone where foreigners would be safe from bullets but the latter said they would stay in the city to guard as far as possible the interests left in their care.

George C. Carothers, special representative of the state department arrived today and will be the guest of General Villa, whom he has known for many years, throughout the campaign.

Demands Sharpshooters.
Austin, Tex., March 20.—Reports of new disorders along the Mexican border including the attempted kidnapping of an American citizen by five Mexicans today caused Governor O. B. Colquitt to order the ranger force recruited with men who can shoot.

"I have instructed Captain Hughes to look for more men suitable for the ranger service. My instructions to him are to get men who can shoot and will shoot when necessary," said Governor Colquitt tonight.

Captain Hughes commands the ranger force which has headquarters at Raymondville, Cameron county, in the extreme southeastern section of the state. Governor Colquitt would not discuss tonight the conference today of the adjutant general and Mexican officials, at Piedras Negras.

Two telegrams today formed the basis of the governor's action in ordering the ranger force increased. The first reported the kidnapping of an American, Charles Ballard, by five Mexicans, near Carrizo Springs. The second was the petition from Cameron county citizens.

Ballard was tied by the Mexicans and hustled to the border, according to the report made to the governor but while the party was crossing the Rio Grande he cut the rope which held him and escaped by diving. Ballard's captors shot at him without effect several times and then made good their escape. Sheriff Gardner of Dimmitt county went in pursuit with a posse and the rangers and United States army border patrol also began a search for the men but they were thought to have escaped into Mexico.

If you go to Kriples for that spring suit you will be wise.

BRISTOL, Virginia-Tennessee, March 20.—Congressman C. B. Slemph of Virginia was today made defendant in a suit for absolute divorce brought by his wife, Mrs. Roberta Barton Slemph.

ARREST TEN GRANITE CITY MEN ON BRIBERY CHARGES

ST. LOUIS, March 20.—Ten men, one of them a member of the present grand jury of Madison county, Illinois, were arrested in Granite City, Ill., on warrants charging bribery in connection with the municipal election last Tuesday for judge and clerk of the city court.

Chief of Police White of Granite City, who made the investigation and subsequent arrests, declared tonight seventy-five men were involved. Those arrested were released on $500 bail each.

OFFERS $5,000 REWARD FOR THE RETURN OF WARREN MCCARRICK

PHILADELPHIA, March 20.—Mayor Blankenburg tonight issued a proclamation by authority of city council offering a reward of $5,000 for the recovery of Warren McCarrick, alive, and the arrest and conviction of his abductors.

The boy, according to the proclamation was last seen about 4 p. m., March 12th, near his home in the southern section of this city. He is eight years old, weighed above 75 pounds, medium build, sandy complexion and had a small scar on his cheek bone under the left eye. He was dressed in a blue reefer overcoat hip bum boots and a red knitted cap. Numerous clues, several from out of town points have been run down without result and the theory that he was drowned in the Schuylkill river is gaining additional support.

Panama, March 20.—Carlos Duque, sub-director of the Lotteria de Panama, acting in conformity with strong representations by the Panama government on behalf of William J. Price, the American minister, has notified the Chinese lotteries in Colon and Panama that they must close within thirty days. The terms of the contracts permit of the closing of the lotteries.

TAFT WANTS ANTI-TRUST LAW LEFT ABSOLUTELY UNCHANGED

Emphasizes His Conviction That Trades Unions and Farmers Should Be Exempt From Operation of Act.

Minneapolis, March 20.—It would be better to leave the present anti-trust statute absolutely unchanged than to risk losing the advantages gained through years of judicial interpretation in the opinion of former President Taft, as expressed in his closing lecture before the law school of the University of Minnesota here late today. He advocated the enforcement of the present law and would add thereto wherever found necessary, but declared much might be lost to the business world by repealing that which had been found effective and had stood the test before the highest court of the land.

Mr. Taft took occasion to emphasize his conviction that trades unions and farmers should not be exempt from the operation of the anti-trust act. He said he hoped such action would never be taken because it would be class legislation.

ETHEL BELMONT UNDERGOES SEARCHING CROSS-EXAMINATION

Appears as Witness in Her Suit for Separation From Her Husband, Raymond Belmont.

New York, March 20.—Ethel Loraine Belmont had to undergo a searching cross examination today when she appeared as a witness in her suit for a separation from Raymond Belmont, son of August Belmont, whom she married in November, 1912. Although she had passed as an actress she admitted today that she had never been on the stage. She had met young Belmont in 1909, she said. They had discussed marriage many times and planned in detail their married life together.

"He figured out on a piece of paper one day while we were lunching that he could marry me and allow me $400 a month to run the house," she testified. "I'll take what dogs I have in my kennels on Long Island and move them to Jersey and we'll raise beagles." He said there was lots of money in beagles and he knew how to raise them.

Mrs. Belmont declared that at the present time she had only about $1,000 of a lump sum of $20,000 and other amounts that her husband had given her before her marriage. She said she had received only $50 from him since the wedding. The case was adjourned until next Friday.

VOGEL FAILS TO APPEAR IN HEARING BEFORE COMMISSIONER

NEW YORK, March 20.—Frank E. Vogel, partner of Henry Siegel in the bankrupt firm of Henry Siegel and company bankers failed to appear today at hearing before United States Commissioner Alexander Gilchrist, Jr., of the affairs of the defunct bank. His counsel announced that Vogel was ill but professed ignorance of his whereabouts.

Mr. Gilchrist, served notice that Vogel would be held in contempt of court should he fail to appear in court next Monday or submit legal proof that he was unable to do so. Siegel refused to answer many questions concerning his assets. Asked what he did with a $150,000 personal loan from the bank he said a reply might incriminate him. He gave a similar answer to the question whether he still had in his possession some of this money but when pressed by the commissioner he denied that he had any of it now. He refused to say what he did with it.

Thomas S. Feider, attorney general of Georgia, is a candidate for the unexpired term of the late United States Senator Bacon.

Arthur Capper, the Topeka newspaper publisher, is again to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Kansas.

Mother's Advice To Her Daughter

A Real Live Doll to Fondle Is Woman's Greatest Happiness.

One of the most important matters about which women concern themselves is their future status as a grandmother. And she is wisdom itself who knows of or learns of that famous remedy, Mother's Friend. This is an external application for the abdominal muscles and breasts. It certainly has a wonderful influence, always all fear, banishes all pain, is a most grateful encouragement to the young, expectant mother, and permits her to go through the period of pregnancy in a mind free in body and thus destined to anticipate woman's greatest happiness as nature intended she should.

The action of Mother's Friend makes the muscles firm, pliant and responsive to expansion. Thus all strain and tension upon the nerves and ligaments is avoided, and in place of a period of discomfort and consequent dread it is a season of calm repose and joyful expectation. There is no nausea, no morning sickness, no nervous twitching, none of that constant strain known to so many women. Hence Mother's Friend is really one of the greatest blessings that could be devised. This splendid and certain remedy can be had of any druggist at $1.00 a bottle, and is sure to prove of inestimable value, not only upon the mother, but upon the health and future of the child. Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 132 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their book to expectant mothers. There is a wealth of instruction and comfort to be derived in reading this little book. It is plainly written, just what every woman wants to know, and will be a splendid little textbook for guidance, not only for yourself, but will make you helpful to others. And, in the meantime, do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the drug store, and thus fortify yourself against any and all pain and discomfort.

TRUTH TRIUMPHS

Jacksonville Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Jacksonville citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Jacksonville citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

Mrs. J. H. Allen, 430 S. Main street, Jacksonville, Fla., says: "I can strongly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for they did me a world of good. Often I was so dizzy that I couldn't see and I also felt nervous. My kidneys were weak and I had backache. Doan's Kidney Pills fixed me up in good shape."

If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Allen had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

INQUEST OVER REMAINS OF ENGINEER F. C. CLARK

Coroner's Jury Exonerate Railroad Men From Any Responsibility For Employee's Death—Burial at Clayton, Ill.

Coroner M. W. Quinn of Winchester held an inquest at Bluffs Friday over the remains of F. C. Clark, who met death beneath the wheels of a train. The jury was composed of Thomas Meehan, foreman; W. C. Armistice, Perry C. Lankford, Harry Vannier, Harry Wadeking and Hawes Six. They gave in a verdict that the deceased came to his death by being run over Thursday evening at 10:30 o'clock at Bluffs by engine 137 of the Wabash railroad and that no one be blamed for the accident.

It was brought out at the inquest that Mr. Clark was getting ready to take charge of a double header train made up in Bluffs which was to leave for Hannibal. He was in charge of the rear engine and had gotten out of the cab and gone to the front engine to ask that engineer about the air, and also about the brakeman service. As he was returning to his own engine he stepped on the track adjoining. At the same time there was an engine and two freight cars backing, toward the east. The first engineer called to Mr. Clark to look out but the cars ran him down before he could heed the call.

Mr. Clark was a native of Missouri and was 41 years of age. He leaves a widow and no children. He has been in the employ of the Wabash railroad for sixteen years.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon and interment will be made at Clayton, Ill.

ACTORS FROM ABBEY THEATRE PLEASE AUDIENCE AT GRAND

Irish Players Appear Before Well Filled House—Present Dramatic Works of Three Well Known Gaelic Playwrights.

One of the best appreciated and most artistically staged dramatic entertainments of recent months appeared at the Grand Friday evening when the Irish players from the Abbey theater, Dublin, gave before a well filled house three representative plays from three of the most able of modern Gaelic dramatists. W. B. Yeats, William Boyle and Lady Gregory. The plays were "Cathleen Ni Hoolihan," a one act sketch of Celtic peasant life in 1798; the "Building Fund," a comedy full of Irish wit as well as pathos and interesting and surprising situations through the length of its three acts, and "The Rising of the Moon," a minor production by Lady Gregory, but true to life and excellent in conception and execution. The company came to the city under the auspices of the Drama league. The performance at the Grand was followed by an after-theater luncheon at the Peacock Inn when short addresses were heard by members of the company.

Complete mastery of pure Celtic dialect with freedom from mere "brogue" characterized the players who spoke their lines with a fluency and clearness of enunciation, leaving little to be desired. Of Irish blood and Irish breeding themselves they grasped their author's meaning without hesitation, giving Jacksonville playgoers a representation of plays of wit, feeling and power by players of resourcefulness, quickness and understanding.

Although it might be hard to fix upon a star, many who witnessed the performance would have given the palm to Nora Desmond, who appeared first as Cathleen Ni Hoolihan in the play of that name and again as the miserly Mrs. Grogan in "The Building Fund." As the ghostly personification of the spirit of Irish nationality she was without a fault. Her presentation of that miser of misers, Mrs. Grogan, could hardly have been surpassed. Arthur Sinclair's best work was done in the role of Shan Grogan in "The Building Fund" although his natural and unaffected acting won him much applause in "The Rising of the Moon." J. A. O'Rourke played a heavy part in each of the three productions, appearing to best advantage, perhaps, as Michael O'Callaghan in Lady Gregory's three act comedy. J. M. Kerrigan, Eileen O'Doherty, Ethne Magee, U. Wright and Fred Donovan while not before the audience so great a portion of the time, were masters of detail and character delineation and showed their fitness for heavy work in Irish repertoire.

A pronounced factor in the success of the plays as presented Friday evening was the scenery which is carried by them in the Abbey theater, at Dublin. Another favoring circumstance was the degree of familiarity a large part of the audience had with the works of Yeats, Boyle and Gregory, several of which have been given as readings on different occasions at the public library. From many standpoints the appearance of the Irish players was a success and the members of the Jacksonville center of the Drama league are deserving of sincere congratulations by those who have at heart the encouragement of high class drama.

Supper at the Inn.

The company of players and members of the Drama league to the number of seventy adjourned to the Peacock Inn after the performance, where a delicious and substantial repast was served on tables tastefully decorated with roses. Mrs. David Reid, president of the Jacksonville center of the league, acted as toast-mistress, introducing first Mr. Johnson of the Chicago Theater Co., the players' American manager. Mr. Johnson gave an interesting talk on the history of Irish plays and players from the inception of the movement to the recent success of the plays on this side of the Atlantic. Mr. Robinson, the next speaker, a native of County Cork, Ireland, told more of the history of Gaelic revival and commented on the desirability of a national drama. He decried the tendency toward the exotic and artificial in American drama and recommended immediate steps toward the development of an art which is honestly and truly American. He complimented the work of the Drama league and expressed a sincere hope for its continued usefulness.

The big show is at the Grand; ex-Matinee and night show at the Grand Opera house today. The management offers a splendid bill of vaudeville and motion pictures.

PLACE BAN ON GIFTS.

"No more gifts for teachers at the high school" was the decision of the J. H. S. faculty at a meeting after recitations Thursday evening. There has been a custom of presenting extravagant floral gifts and giving banquets in honor of faculty members in times past, it seems, and the prevailing opinion of the present teaching force is that such practices tend toward the encouragement of favoritism and caste distinction and are therefore to be discontinued. No matter how much the individual pupil may desire to show appreciation of his instructor.

WILL BE HERE TODAY.

Mrs. Helen Brown Read has arrived in Chicago and relatives received word that she will be here today. Mrs. Read returned from England about two weeks ago.

If you like good vaudeville and good pictures be one of the audience at the Grand Opera house today, matinee or night. The shows tonight are at 7 and 9 o'clock.

ELECTION COMES TUESDAY.

As a matter of county pride Democrats of Morgan county should go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for Francis E. Baldwin for circuit judge to succeed Judge Thompson. He is an able lawyer, made a good record as county judge, which combined with eighteen years study of the law, well qualifies him for the high position of judge of the circuit court.

It must be kept in mind that the voting, so far as Morgan county is concerned, must be done next Tuesday. The nomination is conceded to be equivalent to an election and the nomination must be made in Tuesday's primary.

Most of the newspapers of Sangamon, Macoupin and Scott have joined the papers of Morgan county in endorsing Judge Baldwin's candidacy.
His campaign has been clean, in keeping with the character of the man, and because he is temperamentally and intellectually fitted for the place.

For years the circuit court has been open from time to time and important matters requiring the immediate attention of a judge could be had on not to exceed a day's notice. Can citizens expect our court to be open as in the past with a judge residing in another county?
It is up to the Democrats of Morgan county next Tuesday to see that this county has a resident circuit judge for Morgan county by voting for Judge Baldwin.

RAILROAD NOTES.

gone to Kansas to visit his mother who is seriously ill.

William Saner, the capable foreman of the blacksmith shop, is called on to help out during the absence of Philip Branner. Mr. Saner works at Charley Pires' forge, temporarily tools and doing other particular jobs and Charley takes Branner's place.

Frank McKinney, boiler maker, is erecting a fine new ten room concrete house in Jerseyville. Just what he means to do with it no one knows; it may be a cage for a bird he hopes soon to have for his own or it may be for rent, or—well—no one knows and all are guessing.
In the machine shop engines 47, 56 and 41 are stripped awaiting their asbestos jackets and they look

Saturday

BY WALT MASON

To Saturday it would be hard to hand too much of honest praise; it certainly inspires the bard to put up fifty - seven lays. All days are slick, when rightly viewed, with optimistic
heart and eyes, but Saturday seems like a dude among a bunch of hayseed guys. It is the best of all the days, it sees the long week's labor done; the workers go their homeward ways, each man lopsided with his mon.
There's nothing makes us more serene than knowing we have bravely wrought to earn the package of long green which to the wives and kids we've brought. And when the week end whistles blow, announcing now a day of rest, what peace and comfort do we know, who faced our tasks and did our best! Then the long night of perfect rest, and Sunday sees us at the kirk, to hear about a country blest, the home of those who pray and work. So let us work, and let us pray, and do the thing that's to our hand and when is gone life's fleeting day, we'll caper in the Happy Land.

MISS RUTH LEACH TO BE HERE WITH GYPSY MADRIGAL SINGERS

Is Soprano Soloist in Organization
Which is Receiving Favorable
Comment—Des Moines Paper Speaks Well of Singers.

The most welcome news has been received that Miss Ruth Leach, the talented young artist, who has been studying with marked success in Chicago, under the direction of Mme.
Johanna Hess-Burr, will be heard in Jacksonville in the near future as soprano soloist with "The Gypsy Madrigal Singers" of which Mme.
Burr is musical director.

Referring to the Madrigal singers, the Des Moines Register-Leader recently had the following: "The Gypsy Madrigal Singers of Chicago provided an evening of rare musical delight last night. Twelve advanced pupils of Madame Hess-Burr, a teacher who has graduated many of the best known singers of the day, compose the organization. There was a charm of novelty, not alone in thought of triple quartette, but the music of a dozen young voices combining at once the native simplicity of youth with the experience reflected of excellent training. Nor was the spring time mood transmitted to the audience through the ear alone, for the most testy critic could not deny the genuinely pretty picture of twelve Gypsies circled around their camp fires."

SOUTH SIDE CIRCLE.

The South Side Circle met at the beautiful home of Mrs. J. W. Lane on West State street yesterday afternoon with a full attendance. The program was in charge of Mrs. Nelson McMurphy. The theme for the afternoon was "Forestry" and Mrs.
McMurphy presented a full and comprehensive paper on this subject. After an interesting discussion of the subject, the ladies were served with refreshments and enjoyed a social hour. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. C. C. Carpenter and the program will be in charge of Mrs. Tom H. Buckthorpe.

WAR DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR JOINT MANEUVERS

Maneuvers of Regular Army Men and National Militia Will Begin in Latter Part of July.

Washington, March 20.—Plans for joint maneuvers by the United States regular army and the national guard to include attacks on Washington and San Francisco by invading armies together with the establishment of numerous training camps throughout the country were announced today by the war department. Although the department has determined on a definite date for the maneuvers, it was tentatively decided to begin them in the latter part of July. Instructions went forth from the department today to the various adjutants general of the state militia to begin preparations for the event. Special attention was called to the desire of the department that the encampments and maneuvers be conducted with a view to obtaining increased efficiency and that consequently officers were expected to eliminate all spectacular exhibitions of troops.

The attack against Washington will be participated in by troops of the seventh and eighth divisions of the eastern department which will concentrate at Baltimore. The attacking forces, the department announced will be known as the red division. A similar number of troops designated as the "blue division" will be concentrated in the vicinity of the national capital as the defense army. The maneuvers of the regular army and militia of the western department it was announced will include a maneuver campaign in the vicinity of San Francisco to be participated in by the California troops and various state camps, the detailed plans of which will be announced later. The feature of the maneuvers will be an attack and defense of the city of San Francisco to include the landing of a force on the beach by the attacking army and an advance against the city.

DR. ELLIOT HAS PASSED
HIS EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY.

President Emeritus of Harvard Receives Congratulations on Important Anniversary.

Boston, March 20.—Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university and probably the most distinguished of American educators, observed quietly his 80th birthday anniversary at his home in Cambridge today. He passed a large part of the day as usual among his books, although interrupted now and then by friends who came to congratulate him. During the past few days many letters of greeting have arrived at the Eliot home from friends in all parts of America, in Europe and in far-off Japan and China.

Dr. Eliot was born in Boston and has always made his home in this vicinity, with the exception of the years that he has spent in foreign travel and study. He began his career as an educator at the age of 19, when he was appointed a tutor in mathematics at Harvard. In 1869 he was elected to the presidency of the university and continued in that position for forty years. Since he gave up the active duties of the presidency in 1908 Dr. Eliot has devoted his time largely to the universal peace movement and the propagation of what has been termed "the new religion," which is designed as a common ground on which persons of all races and all creeds may meet. At 80 years of age Dr.
Eliot appears to be in excellent health, having fully recovered from the effects of the operation for appendicitis which he was forced to undergo while traveling in Asia a year or so ago.

purposes. After accusing Whitney, the woman left the state, promising to return for the trial, and when last heard from was in New Orleans.

WESTERN RAILROAD STOCKS ADVANCE BRINGS IMPROVEMENT

Strength is Associated With Intimations That Administration Favors Advance in Freight Rates For Eastern Lines.
New York, March 20.—An advance which began in the western railroad stocks today ultimately extended through the market which showed material improvement at the close.
Railroad shares were most conspicuous in the day's dealings and their strength was associated with intimations from Washington that the administration favored an advance in freight rates for the eastern lines. The market was slow in getting under way, chiefly on account of renewed pressure from abroad.

Steel lagged behind, but in the end it made a good showing.
Coppers were helped by expansion of the export movement of the metal and a reported increase in the domestic consumption.

Agricultural News Valuable To Farmers

COST OF CROP HAULAGE IS BIG PROBLEM

ENTERS LARGELY INTO EXPENSE ACCOUNT IN FARM OPERATION

Edison Terms Horse the Poorest Motor Ever Built on Basis of Energy Produced Through Feed—Condition of Roads Enters Largely Into Cost—Farm Tractor Likely to Revolutionize Haulage.

(By B. W. Benedict, Director Shop Laboratories, University of Illinois.)

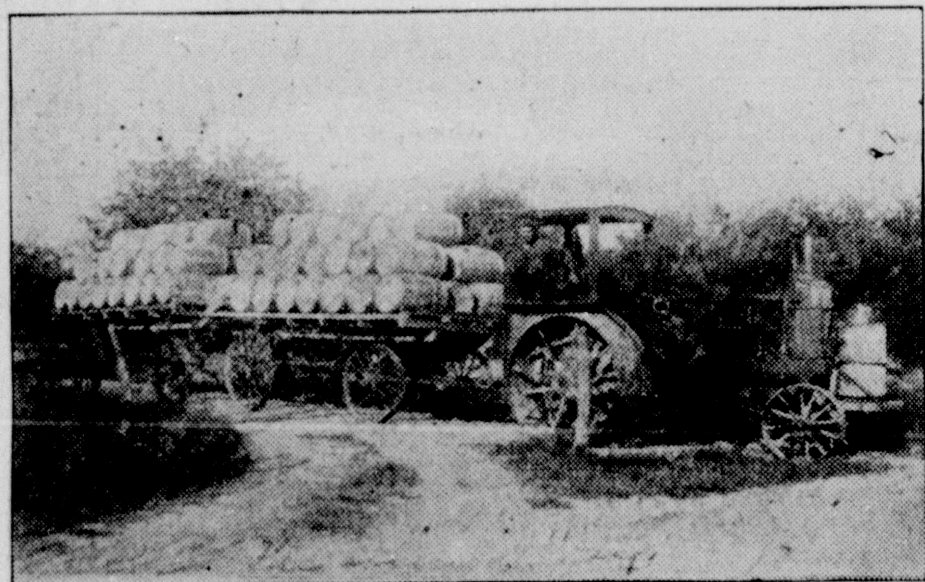

Agriculture is the largest single industry in Illinois in point of product and number of workers. In 1909 the sum of $372,270,470 was returned to the 2,500,000 farmers engaged in farm operation throughout the state. Each received a share of the total depending on the kind, quantity and amount of crop produced and sold. The profits on farm operation for the year were not divided on the same basis, however, but according to the degree of efficiency of farm management attained by the individual operator. Profit is remainder after expense of operation is deducted from total revenue.

Obviously the object of farm operation in profit and yet there is probably no business subject so many variables beyond control of the producer, but which nevertheless enter directly into the problems of operation. While the farmer has an investment in land, facilities and materials, he cannot market his product on the basis of cost of production plus a fair profit as the manufacturer can do. Prices are fixed by conditions existing in the markets of the world which may under certain combinations of events wipe out profits except where low costs of production have been secured through efficient management. Considering the steadily increasing cost cent of the energy supplied to the horse is wasted in so far as useful work is concerned. His average speed with a load is from 2 to 3 miles. In poor road districts one trip spend a long day in making two round trips where the average is 7.8 miles. In poor road districts, one trip per day will be the limit and in bad weather no loads can be moved.

The road factor also enters into the problem. Good roads mean large loads, maximum speed, and low hauling costs; poor roads, the reverse. Illinois has poor roads; in fact very poor roads in comparison with those states which have followed a progressive policy of road building. Over 95 per cent of the roads in this state have an earth surface. Properly constructed and maintained a dirt road is a satisfactory roadway, but under an indifferent policy of supervision this form of road becomes a burlesque. A strip of muck in bad weather is a fair characterization of the average dirt road through out the corn belt. There is no moral or economic justification for poor roads.

Three Ways to Cut Haulage Cost
The high hauling costs which now prevail can be reduced by providing three essentials namely: (1) good roads; (2) efficient transportation and (3) efficient systems. It is not necessary to touch upon the good roads program as there are quantities of information covering all phases of this important subject. Much, however, remains to be said about the two remaining items. The power tractor and the motor truck are destined to revolutionize farm transportation. While the power tractor is rapidly displacing the horse in farm operations, its adaptability as a locomotive in hauling loads to market is not generally known. The progressive farmer, however, is beginning to realize this fact as the illustration shows. In a subsequent article the question of economical methods of farm transportation involving the use of community power tractors and established routes of distribution will be discussed in some detail.

Gas tractor hauling apples from orchard and storage on fruit farm of Henry M. Dunlap, Savoy, Illinois. Average load is 1000 barrels, speed 4 miles per hour, mileage 20 milts per day. Doing work of 15 teams at greatly reduced cost.

of farm operation and the fact that market prices are not based primarily on these changes it is apparent the farmer must of necessity turn his attention to the larger aspects of production and distribution if reasonable profits are to be forthcoming.

Transportation Cost.

Among other things the problem of transportation must receive careful consideration. Farm products are generally sold f. o. b. elevator or cars which throw the expense of loading and haulage on the producer. Under the existing systems this service is one of the required activities of farm operation but the expense involved is non-productive (i. e., it does not add to the value of the farm or improve crops) and represents a direct charge against profits. And reduction therefore which can be made in this cost is clear gain. The average length of haul from farms to shipping points in Illinois is about 7.8 miles for the principal products. The average load hauled and the cost of hauling a few of the leading crops is as follows:

Lbs. per load	Cost per load	Cost per bushel
Corn ... 2754	$1.47	$0.033
Oats ... 2847	1.47	0.051
Wheat ... 2656	1.73	0.065
Hay ... 2683	1.73	0.064

Allowing fifty-six pounds of shelled corn per bushel, and average of 2754 lbs., will contain practically 50 bushels. At an average cost of $1.47 for hauling per load, the cost per bushel is 2.9 cents, so that for 50 cent corn the farmer received 47.1 cents after deducting the cost of hauling. The railroads will carry a bushel of corn from Chicago to New York, approximately 1000 miles for 9.68 cents or at the rate of .00968 cents per mile. It costs the farmer 27 cents to haul one bushel one mile under the ordinary conditions just mentioned which is an increase of 975 per cent over that charged by the railroads on a long haul. From this it would seem that a little of the energy now devoted to railroad agitation could be turned with profit to local road problem.

Horse Energy Cost.

Horses are at present the principal motive-power used for hauling farm products in this state. Edison has said that "the horse is the poorest motor ever built. He eats 10 lbs. of feed for every hour he works and yet his thermal efficiency is only 2 per cent." In other words 98 per

BEST CORN RESULTS THROUGH ENSILAGE

EXPERIMENTS SHOW VALUE OF HANDLING CROPS IN THIS MANNER.

Corn is Best Silage Plant But a Variety of Others Can Be Used With Good Results—Breeding Has Much to Do With Amount Which Each Acre Will Provide For Silo.

Corn is the king of forage plants. Next to alfalfa with 6,000 pounds of dry matter per acre it stands as the plant producing the greatest yield of dry matter. One cannot speak with justice of corn without considering it as a silage crop, for thus it serves by far its greatest usefulness. Corn silage is a great adjunct to the production of beef. The Purdue Experiment Station (using silage with corn in fattening steers, secured a profit of $20.96 per steer as against $3.37 when using corn fodder with corn.

The Wisconsin Station in fattening steers with silage and corn secured a net profit of $128.00 as against $99.00 when using clover hay. Corn silage produces six thousand pounds of dry matter per acre. Root crops, used so much for succulent feed, yield about 3,000 lbs. of dry matter. The dry matter of corn silage and roots are equal in milk producing value, hence an acre of corn used for silage has twice the milk producing value of roots.

Silage vs. Corn Fodder.
Voorhees and Lane, of the New Jersey Station, in comparing silage with corn fodder containing the ears for milk production found that silage produces 12.8 per cent more milk and 10.0 per cent more butter fat than corn fodder.

Silage is the most perfect method of using the corn crop. Silage is the succulent, palatable, nutritious, milk producing, money producing feed which gives our cows the favorable conditions all the year around which the cows of our fathers got only during the balmy days of May and June.

Here and there criticisms are brought against ensilage to the effect that it gives bad odors. This comes particularly from the cheese factories and condenseries. Professor Fredrick of the Illinois Station, made condensed milk from a ration containing forty pounds of ensilage and another lot without ensilage. Then he sent a can of each to his friends, asking them to select the one having the best flavor and odor. Out of 600 people 375, or sixty per cent, chose the milk made from ensilage, showing that good condensed milk can be made from silage. The odors resulting from silage are due to contamination through air of the barn exposed to silage fed just before milking time or to the open doors of the silo. Silage should be fed immediately after milking and other times it should be kept out of the barn. Experiments such as the above are rapidly dispelling such ideas as odors, loose teeth, and tuberculosis resulting from silage.

Variety of Plants Can Be Used.
While corn is the best and most important silage plant, other plants, such as alfalfa, clovers, and soy beans, are also suitable for silage, but they are more apt to give undesirable flavors. A combination of soy beans and alfalfa, or clover, and corn makes a better balanced silage than corn alone. One load of green soy beans with four loads of corn thrown into the silage cutter together and thoroughly mixed makes a splendid combination.

Breeding Can Bring Results.
Some farmers fill their one hundred ton silo on fifteen or twenty acres of corn; others, like the winners in our ear yield contests, fill their one hundred ton silos on from five to eight acres. What causes this difference? In the first place the use of a variety of corn which is adapted to the region in which it is grown, and which has been bred for yield of ears and fodder, by the ear to row method, gives the largest yield and best quality of silage. Different ears of corn represent different families, which differ in their yielding power. In an ear to row test of corn produced at Whitehall, Wisconsin, three ears of corn yielded at the rate of forty-four, thirty-nine, and thirty-two bushels per acre, while other ears yielded seventy-seven, seventy-nine, and eighty bushels per acre. Corn planted from an average of all yielded fifty-seven bushels per acre. A gain in yielding power of eighteen bushels per acre was therefore made by this one year's breeding work.

EDUCATORS MEET IN CHICAGO.
Chicago, March 20.—The nineteenth annual meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools was called to order in the main parlors of the Hotel La Salle this morning. The attendance included nearly 200 well known educators from Missouri, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin and several other states. The meeting will conclude tomorrow.

INSECTS INJURE ALFALFA AND CLOVER IN SPRING

Destructive Little Weevil at Work Early This Spring—Can Be Controlled—Clovers Must Be Fed the Mineral Elements for Best Results.

(We have in Illinois more than 200 different kinds of insects in the clover fields. Not all of them feed on the plant, but more than half of them do. Many different kinds eat the leaves, or suck the sap from the plant, yet comparatively few of these are numerous enough as a rule to injure the plant appreciably, if the plants are given proper environment and conditions.)

We are advised by Prof. W. P. Flint, assistant to the State Entomologist, that many fields of clover are already infested with the Clover Leaf Weevil to the extent that the crops will be greatly damaged if not entirely destroyed. Some complaints and inquiries are coming in from alfalfa growers, as the insect enemies of alfalfa are essentially those of clover, and the leaf weevil is especially fond of the young alfalfa leaves.

The Insect Described.
The Clover Leaf Weevil appears during March and the first injury is seen in the form of little round holes in the clover or alfalfa leaves. If we look around on the ground under the rubbish, we will find the little green grubs. In the day time they rest on the ground curled head to tail but at night they crawl to the plant and do the damage. In June these grubs spin cocoons, become pupae, and finally turn into beetles; these beetles can be found any day in summer. They do even more damage than the grubs, stripping the leaves, and sometimes eating the plant down to the ground. Late in summer they lay eggs; these hatch and the young grubs hibernate; many of them are killed by the cold, but plenty survive.

This insect continually threatens the plant, but rarely does any serious damage, because it has a natural enemy, a fungus disease that comes in damp weather and sweeps them off like magic. If this fungus does not appear and the grubs are present in alarming numbers, the fungus culture may be obtained from the State Entomologist and the field inoculated. Later, the clover may be clipped back, or it may be pastured, or it may be cut early according to conditions at the time of infestation.

Supply the Mineral Elements.
Clover insects make a great yearly drain on the plants, but it is so constant it is not always noticed. If we could exclude all the insects except those that pollinize the clover, we would undoubtedly get an immense increased yield of seed. No part of the plant is exempt from attack; the roots are eaten by the root borer and other grubs, and their sap sucked by the mealy bug; the water is hollowed out by the stem borer, the leaves and stems are pierced by many sucking insects and devoured by a great variety of caterpillars, beetles and grasshoppers; the ovule is destroyed by the maggot of the seed midge, and the seed as it develops is eaten and by the Chalcid.

Clover and alfalfa are heavy feeders on nitrogen, calcium and phosphorus. Chemical analysis shows 2.6 pounds of calcium, five pounds of phosphorus, and 40 pounds of nitrogen in each ton of clover or alfalfa. If proper drainage is provided the nitrogen gathering bacteria which live on the roots will supply the nitrogen from the air, but we must supply the calcium and phosphorus in the form of ground limestone and raw rock phosphate. If we will do this our clovers will be such vigorous growers that they will easily sustain and repair a large amount of drainage from insects.—H. A. McKee, Secretary, Illinois Farmers' Institute, Springfield, Illinois.

ENGLISH PRESS DEVOTES MUCH SPACE TO AGRICULTURE

Papers Strongly Contrasted in This Regard With Metropolitan Papers in United States—Too Little Space Given World's Greatest Industry.

We have long wondered when the big metropolitan papers were going to devote the space they should—regularly and generously—to agriculture in its human and economic phases. The big British dailies always have room for the discussion of these matters. The "Breeder's Gazette" calls attention to the contrast in this respect as between American and English papers, saying the great English dailies discuss these technical matters with the intimacy and a fullness of knowledge utterly unknown in similar situations in our own country. The interest of the "London Times" in agriculture is particularly referred to and its "devotion to the problem of those who live upon the land" with the conclusion that:

"The comments of the Chicago dailies upon so wonderful an event as our international show, for example, contrasted with what the British dailies would print in a similar case could be treated as a joke, were they not so pathetic from the viewpoint of people who are in real touch with the affairs of our farmers and feeders."

Even our country papers, until of late, have devoted all too little space to the greatest industry in the world to a field all the press must cultivate, not simply in the news but in the constructive sense.

MANY CONVENIENCES FOR THE FARM HOME

MARKED ADVANCES HAVE BEEN MADE DURING RECENT YEARS

Water and Sewerage Systems Among the Most Important of the Improvements Recorded—Heating Plans Often Overlooked in Planning for the Farm Home.

(By Mrs. Frank H. McKelvey, U. of I., 1909, Sparta, Ill.)

Everyone realizes that the woman of today should be interested in better government, better schools and better neighborhoods. We see the need of time to give personal care and attractiveness to mental development and a growing family. We know that a tired mother does not add comfort to a family circle, when she is supposed to be a companion, a guide, and an inspiration. For these reasons she should have working tools so that all labor may be reduced to a minimum, leaving her time for personal, social and educational diversions.

The farm women of America constitute the largest class of economically useful women, and yet, other classes of women, have been borne out beyond her by the modern aids in their work. Conveniences and labor saving devices have entered the farm homes slowly because the farm women have been so much at home that they fail to see the advancements that were being made around them. It is safe to say, that there is not a farm paper that enters the home now-a-days that does not mention something to save the housekeeper and homemaker. Aids are being made and new ones devised for her, and she now has a chance to free herself from the burdens which weighed upon her mother and grandmother, and gain for herself a home, that is a home, and not merely a shelter.

Running water in the house is no doubt the greatest help to any housekeeper. It may be just a kitchen sink, or a system whereby the water is forced by power, such as electricity, gasoline, or wind mill, into a tank, by making it possible to have water closet, bath tub, and lavatories with hot and cold water upstairs and down.

Various Water Systems.
There are a number of water systems on the market, but I am familiar only with our own plant at Elm Lane Farms, which was furnished by the Kewanee Water Supply company. The water is pumped from the well by a gasoline engine, which pumps air at the same time, forcing both into a large tank in the basement of the house. Another pump known as a water lift is attached between this tank and the house, so that a gallon of cistern water is pumped into a small pressure tank for every four gallons of well water used. Then, with a range boiler connected with the kitchen range, hot and cold water and well water may be had in any part of the house. These tanks vary in pressure supply from forty to seventy pounds to the square inch, elevating water from ninety to one hundred and fifty feet in pipes. A complete hard and soft water system, consisting of 72 gallon tank for well water and pressure gauge for each tank, and a two horse power gasoline engine with an automatic stopping device will cost about $400. Add to this $100, making the total expenditure $500, and you have a complete bathroom. No one needs the convenience of a bathroom more than the farmer, for, after a hard day's work in the dust and heat a bath restores self respect and gives rest, to say nothing of the temper and hard washing saved.

The Sewage System.

A water supply for the house cannot be separated from a sewage system, yet a sewage system could be had without a water supply. This would save the housekeeper from carrying out the water which she carries into the house. Such a system could be installed at small expense for labor and materials. The plumbing of the house should join a six inch vitrified tile in cement. The waste then passes into the tile and empties into a septic tank or catch basin. The overflow from the septic tank passes out through more vitrified tile, then porous tile, and finally empties into a field away from the house. The tiles should dip down as they enter and leave the septic tank so that the inlet and outlet are closed, preventing the escape of gases and the seum from filling the tile.

Arranging for Heat.

It is no longer the custom to build a house of any size in town without installing a heating plant, yet most farmers fail to consider such a thing. There are three systems used, hot water, steam and hot air. The hot water heats slowly, but keeps the house warm for a longer period than either steam or hot air. Steam heats quickly, but as the fire gets low the temperature falls rapidly. The hot air is often influenced by the wind. The hot water system is the most expensive of the three and the hot air is the cheapest. The cost of heating a house depends entirely upon its size, glass area and exposure. Such plants use less coal than would be burned by stoves in heating the same space, are cleaner and give more uniform heat.

SUGGESTS THAT FARMERS HAVE SOUGHT TO ORGANIZE TRUSTS

Question Will Be Discussed at Conference of Marketing and Farm Credits—Campaign Against Waste

Are farmers trying to organize trusts?

This is one of the important questions that will be discussed in Chicago when the second national conference on marketing and farm credits meets in joint session with the Western Economics society. The meeting will take place April 14, 15 and 16, and will be attended by delegates from practically every commonwealth in the United States and from many provinces in Canada.

Among other things the conference will thresh out the quarrel of the farmers' co-operative company and the joint stock company, as a method of organization. Many farmers of the United States believe that the cause of the failures of farmers' marketing organizations lies in the fact that they are organized on a joint stock company basis. Both sides of this subject will be presented.

The convention will also survey the field of distribution and take steps toward a national campaign for the prevention of the numerous wastes in the handling of farm products from producer to consumer. The meeting will be unpartisan and free discussion will prevail at all times.

Charles W. Holman of Madison, Wis., editor of the University of Wisconsin Press Bureau, is secretary. L. C. Marshall, dean of the University of Chicago School of Commerce, is secretary of the Western Economics society. All communications to either organization should be addressed to the Chicago headquarters, corner 58th street and Ellis avenue.

KERNELS FROM KORN BELT (By Sol E. Quilzer.)

The truck man who gets his peas and potatoes in while the neighbors are toasting their shins is the same chap that doesn't have to run his legs off looking for a market.

Some men are born for failure and some are careful about choosing their seed corn.

The trouble about so many up-lifters is that they want to put on stilts when they go into the cow-yard.

The groceryman weighing out butter left a careless big fist on the scale, I could well understand 'twas his good helping hand.

That never allowed him to fail.

Native Lambs—Merino-Shropshire cross. The mothers of these lambs were bred to Shropshire rams and the lambs dropped in April, at 8 months the lambs weighed 143 lbs. The lambs are 15 lbs. too heavy for a light weight lamb. They are of good quality and fat. They were docked before they were 10 years old. The lambs had a crop where they were fed out when on pasture with their mothers. They were weaned August 1 and fed shelled corn and oil meal on clover pasture, and later yard fed on corn clover and oil meal.

It is advisable for corn-belt farmers wishing to start a flock of sheep to buy range ewes in preference to native ewes as range ewes are harder and more free from diarrhoea.

The owner of these sheep is J. Orton Finley of Oneida, Ill. Next week an illustrated article by Mr. Finley will be given.

CHINCH BUGS LIKELY IN PART OF STATE

ENTOMOLOGIST BELIEVES THEY WILL ATTACK TWENTY FOUR COUNTIES.

Estimate is Based on Winter Investigations Made all Over Illinois—Best Time to Combat Pest is at Wheat Harvest—Simple Methods Are Effective But Co-Operation is Essential.

(By Stephen A. Forbes, State Entomologist.)

The present condition and distribution of the chinch-bug in its winter quarters in this state make it probable that at least twenty-four counties of western and west-central Illinois will be injuriously infested by chinch-bugs this year. This infestation may, however, be reduced by very wet weather in spring; on the other hand, if the weather is dry, it may be extended over several counties additional by the spread of the bugs over the country as they come out from their winter quarters, or by their rapid multiplication in districts where their number is now small.

Road Oil Helps.

Our experience of the year 1913 has strongly confirmed the previous conclusion, that the wheat harvest is the best time to attack the chinch-bug in Illinois. Beyond a doubt a field of corn lying beside a field of heavily infested wheat can be completely protected against injury by chinch-bugs moving out of the wheat on foot at harvest time, by laying upon the ground between the fields a narrow line of No. 7 road-oil (from Whiting, Ind.), or of crude creosote, or of crude carbolic acid, renewing this line at intervals of one to three days or more, and trapping and killing the bugs by means of post-holes dug at intervals of about twenty feet beside the line.

It is also certain that any farmer can virtually exterminate the chinch-bugs infesting a field of wheat by surrounding it with such a barrier at the proper time and keeping the line of road-oil or creosote or an effective condition for a period of fifteen to twenty days; and we have every reason to believe that a general community operation of this sort would so reduce the number of the first generation of the chinch-bugs that little or no damage could be done by those of the second generation. The larger the percentage of the farmers using these harvest-time methods effectively in any community, the less will be the injury to corn and other crops during the latter part of the summer.

Mile of Barrier Costs $32.
The cost of the whole operation, if road-oil is used, will be approximately $32 for a mile of the barrier for the season, of which $9 will be for materials, and $23 for labor of the farmer and his team. If creosote is used, the entire cost will be approximately $28 a mile, of which $13 will be for materials and $15 for the labor of man and team.

We have further learned by experiment and extensive practical use that solutions of certain kinds of laundry soap, containing three ounces of soap to the gallon of water, will kill chinch-bugs of all ages when freely sprayed upon them; and we have found a small, portable, compressed-air sprayer, a cheap, convenient, and effective apparatus for spraying infested fields. Under certain conditions young corn sometimes becomes dangerously infested by chinch-bugs in early spring, and this spraying method then offers the only means of saving the crop. Many fields were so rescued, at small cost, in the spring of 1912.

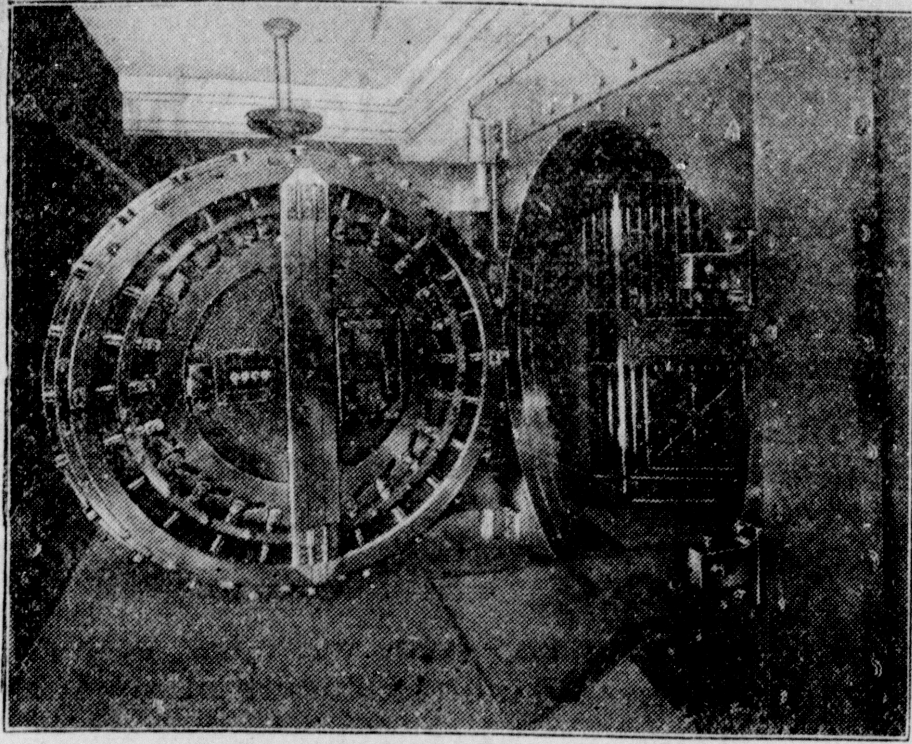

Co-operative Action Needed.

To get the full benefit of these facts it is, of course, necessary that they should be made known in full detail to those whose crops are endangered; and it is also necessary that counties should be organized for co-operation, as generally and completely as possible, to make sure that the largest possible number may be influenced to use these methods persistently. We have found the organization of country communities quite practicable where the officers of the county farmers' institute and of the commercial organization of the county town will unite in a call for a meeting at the county-seat. At such a meeting a general committee may be appointed, containing one representative from each township in the county, who will undertake to get local meetings of the farmers—by school districts, as a rule—at which circulars of this office may be distributed and instructions may be given in a way to provide for the beginning of the work. In any county where a meeting of this description is called, a representative of this office may be had to address the meeting on the subject, and to assist in further steps for the organization of the county; and as the campaign proceeds, all necessary assistance will be given by field agents of the office in securing a timely supply of materials for the operations above described and in carrying the work on in the most effective manner.

through with this office I am going to come back to Washington and see it. In the meantime I am in the same category as the National Museum, the Smithsonian Institution, or the Congressional Library and everything that comes down here has to be shown the president. If I only knew an exhibition appearance to assume—apparently I can assume other appearances that do not show what is going on inside—I would like to have it pointed out so that I could practice it before the glass and see if I could not look like the monument. Being regarded as a national exhibit it would be much simpler than being shaken hands with by the whole United States. And yet even that is interesting to me simply because I like human beings. It is a pretty poor crowd that does not interest you. It would be a great pleasure if, unobserved and unattended, I could be knocked around as I have been accustomed to being knocked around all my life if I could resort to any delightful quarter to any place in Washington that I chose. I have sometimes thought of going to some costumes, some theatrical costumes and buying an assortment of beads, rouge and coloring and all the known means of disguising myself if it were not against the law. But if I could disguise myself and not get caught I would go out, be a free citizen once more and have a jolly time. I might then meet some of you gentlemen and actually tell you what I really thought.

The president talked most informally. He wore a sack suit and stood with his hands in his pockets as he spoke. He was in a happy mood and his remarks were constantly punctuated with laughter and applause. Mr. Wilson is a member of the Press club, having been elected as an author long before he became president. MITCHELL COMPANY IS STRONG.
H. L. McClaren, president of the Mitchell-Lewis Motor company, announces that the company has sold its big wagon plant, also located at Racine, Wisconsin, and will permanently retire from the wagon business, devoting its entire attention to the future of the manufacture and sale of Mitchell automobiles.

The consideration involved in the sale is private, but by the transaction the motor company added to its operating capital $2,700,000. Of this amount $2,200,000 is permanent capital and $500,000 is an issue of gold notes due Aug. 1, 1915. By this arrangement the Mitchell-Lewis Motor company will pay on its entire gold note issue, due Aug. 1, 1914, and takes its place in the front rank of automobile manufacturers in the matter of permanent financial stability.

"Without reservation," said a man close to the Mitchell-Lewis organization, "the stability of this motor making company is something that the entire state of Wisconsin should be proud of. The Mitchell car, developed in the Badger State, marketed from a city which for 75 years has been a center for vehicle manufacture and sold in the markets of the world, always has been popular. The Racine plant is so firmly rooted in financial power that there is no doubt it will have one of the greatest production years of its existence."

UTILITIES COMMISSION ACTS ON ALL COMPLAINTS FILED

Tribune Tells of Individuals Who Made Gas and Telephone Troubles Known and Secured Prompt Investigation—Judge Thompson Has Special Charge of Legal Department.

If one may adopt the views of Henry M. Hyde, special writer of the Chicago Tribune, the new Illinois utilities commission is going to prove to be a people's court, where every citizen who has a real grievance along utility lines can get justice. Mr. Hyde in the Tribune Friday tells about a woman in Wilmette who had trouble with her gas stove because the pressure from the main was too low. She wrote to the commission about it and engineers are now investigating this and other like complaints.

A man in Wheaton found that the telephone company was charging five cents toll every time he talked with his brother living in Glenn Ellyn and the understanding had been that this privilege was to be without cost. He complained to the utilities board along with some other residents and the telephone officials have been summoned to appear and tell why they have made the charge referred to. If the commission rules that the charges must be abolished the company will be compelled to do so.

The commission has been busy investigating the cases wherein telephone companies raised rates after the utility law was passed, but before it went into effect. In each instance where this was found to be true the company was ordered to show cause why the old rate should not be re-established.

Fees Reach High Sum.
Mr. Hyde goes on to tell some other interesting things about the commission and its work. He says:

"In addition many corporations have applied for permission to issue bonds and other securities—all of which must be approved by the board before they become legal—and have asked for approval of various other corporate acts. Already the fees collected by the commission amount to more than $35,000, which may be applied against the $50,000 appropriated by the commission and the $10,000 salary which is drawn by each of the five commissioners, James E. Quinn, chairman; Owen P. Thompson, Walter A. Shaw, Frank H. Funk and Richard Yates.

"The commission has organized and arranged its work and is going ahead with all sails set. To Commissioner Shaw, the engineer member, has been assigned the granting of all permits for switch tracks; to him also go complaints in regard to grade crossings and reports on all accidents in which public utility corporations are involved.

"All the companies in the state are required to make an immediate and detailed report of every accident. In case lives are lost or there is a large destruction of property the reports must be forwarded by telegraph or telephone and if the accident is sufficiently important the whole commission will immediately make an investigation.

Have Several Hearings at Once.
"To Commissioner Thompson has been assigned the legal department, in which three attorneys are already at work. This department will pass on all applications for new franchises and for permission to issue stocks, bonds, and other securities, which last, however, must be approved by the whole board. To Commissioner Yates will go all matters referring to the telephone service and rates all over the state. Commissioner Funk has charge of the regulation of grain and warehouses, elevators, and the transportation of farm products. Chairman Quinn will consider all complaints and requests which are not specifically assigned to the other members.

"It thus frequently happens that on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month, when the commission is in session in Chicago, there are five separate hearings going on at the same time. The commission has adopted the policy of making as few rulings as possible. Whenever possible it tries to arrange a mutually agreeable settlement between the parties. Its permanent headquarters are at Springfield, though headquarters in charge of a clerk are always open in Chicago.

People Can Tell Troubles.
"As a layman read the law the powers of the commission are almost unlimited. It has just ordered, for instance, a railroad company to immediately build a new station at Rochelle, Ill. It might, apparently, fix the rates to be charged by taxicabs in Chicago. It can tell any company just how its books must be kept and a penalty of a year in jail is provided for any gentleman who fails to obey. It might order all the railroads in the state to install block signals, or any other safety devices. No company may mortgage any of its property or buy the property of any other company without first getting permission.

"And any citizen of Illinois who has any complaint to make about the charges or management of any railroad, street car, telephone, telegraph, gas, electric light, power or water company, or any warehouse or dock company is cordially invited to lay the burden on the shoulders of the commission."

ADDRESSES LARGE AUDIENCE.

Dr. Luccock Appeals for People's Response to God's Commandments.

Dr. Luccock of Chicago delivered another excellent sermon at Westminster church Friday evening and was heard with rapid attention by a large audience. The meetings conducted by Dr. Luccock have been growing in interest and the series has been a most helpful one. The audience Friday evening was made up, not alone of the members of the congregation, but of a number of outsiders as well.

In his sermon the minister took for his text John 14-21, "He That Loveth Me Keepeth My Commandments." The speaker illustrated this by three Biblical characters, Naaman who went away in a rage, the rich young ruler who went away sorrowful and the Ethiopian treasurer who went away glad and made an earnest appeal for the people to respond to God's Commandments.

The new Normandy and Vanderbilt collars are shown by Garland & Co.

INSPECTED COMPANY.

Col Charles H. Murr, Inspector National Guard of the 23rd Infantry, U. S. A., inspected Company L, 8th Ill. N. A., last night. There were only five absentees, which is an excellent showing. The small arms were reported in excellent condition.

Captain C. H. Freeman in honor of his second anniversary as Captain of Co. L, tendered a banquet to the company after the inspection after which the soldiers received their pay for last encampment.

A "HOME MADE" WINDOW.

The window display of Carl S. Hillerby is somewhat out of the ordinary and very novel by reason of the fact that every article shown was made at home by employees of the store during leisure hours within the last two years. Fancy work, pillow tops and various other examples of artistic needle craft are on display, though not for sale, and the whole exhibit does credit to the young ladies of the "Safest Place to Trade."

SEE IF THE CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

Mother! Don't Hesitate! If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of his little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup company." Refuse any other kind with contempt—Adv.

MRS. ALEX SMITH DIES SUDDENLY

SUCCUMBS TO SEVERE ATTACK OF HEART FAILURE

Was Returning Home From Services At Westminster Church, and Became Ill on Street, Dying Fifteen Minutes Later at Home—Coroner Will Hold Inquest Today.

Mrs. Alexander Smith, suffered an attack of heart failure Friday evening, while returning from church, and died fifteen minutes after reaching her home. She had been in her usual health and her death comes as a great shock to her loved ones and friends.

Capt. and Mrs. Smith had been to Westminster church to hear Dr. Luccock and were returning home when they were overtaken by Eli McLaughlin. Capt. Smith introduced Mr. McLaughlin to his wife and the three continued home. When they reached the walk in front of Trinity church, Mrs. Smith, who had hold of her husband's arm stepped back and at the same time exclaimed, "I am sick." Her husband and Mr. McLaughlin assisted her along until the walk leading up to the residence, 335 West State street, was reached when she was given into Mr. McLaughlin's charge and Capt. Smith ran on ahead to get the door unlocked. Both men assisted her into the residence, and Dr. J. F. Myers was the first of the physicians summoned to arrive. Mrs. Myers accompanied him. Mrs. Smith was breathing heavily when placed in a chair. Restoratives were given and every possible aid rendered but she passed away at 9:30 o'clock, fifteen minutes after she suffered the attack.

Mrs. Smith's maiden name was Litzelman and she was born, Oct. 27, 1854 near Newton, Ill., being in the 60th year of her age at the time of death. Her parents died when she was a child and she together with the other two children, were placed in a convent at Vincennes, Indiana, where she received her education. She was married to Captain Smith, April 7, 1875 in Centenary M. E. church, this city, by Rev. F. M. Rile, a brother-in-law of Capt. Smith. Rev. Mr. Rile is now pastor of a church in St. Paul, Minn. Capt. Smith became proprietor of the Dunlap hotel in 1869 and excepting for four years, when he was manager of the Park hotel, he has been proprietor of the Dunlap, so since the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, they have always made Jacksonville their home.

Besides her husband she is survived by one sister, Mrs. A. J. Adams of St. Louis. Mr. Adams is manager of the St. Regis hotel of St. Louis. She also leaves two nieces, both of whom are priests and reside at Alsace, Province Loraine, Germany, an adopted son, Alexander Smith, chief clerk of Hyde Park hotel, Chicago. Her sister, Miss Louise Litzelman died at Our Savior's hospital, June 8, 1913.

The passing away of Mrs. Smith removes a woman whom everyone loved and respected. She was a dutiful wife and a great lover of home. For a number of years Captain Smith conducted the Dunlap house and during that time Mrs. Smith showed much ability in assisting her husband in its management. Not only was she known by many in Jacksonville but her association with the hotel brought her in contact with patrons of the well known hostelry from all parts of the United States; she was always cordially greeted and her death will be learned with great sorrow by them.

Mrs. Smith possessed a loving disposition, and her kindness was extended to everyone. She was especially thoughtful of the poor and needy and even tramps knew that a call for something to eat met with no refusal. Since a young woman she had been a member of the Presbyterian church and on coming to Jacksonville became associated with the State Street church. She was a member of the Ladies' Aid society and was interested in the affairs of the church, giving of her services as well as money. She was especially interested in the religious services which were being conducted by Dr. Luccock and had not missed a night.

Mrs. Smith had enjoyed comparative good health and was feeling unusually well yesterday. She was not subject to heart trouble and when the attack came on her last night, Mr. Smith thought that it was a slight illness from indigestion, from which she suffered at times. Many will deeply regret to learn of her sudden death and their sincere sympathy will go out to the stricken husband and loved ones in their sad hours of bereavement.

Coroner Wright was notified of her sudden death and an inquest will be held today. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.
